March 2014 Agriculture Newsletter

A shorter newsletter this time, and slightly behind schedule. The pull-out fact sheet in this edition should be highly interesting reading for everyone that raises soybeans as it gives research documentation to a very common question “Can I plant less seed per acre now that its more expensive than I’m used to?”.

If you are interested in something listed in the calendar of events and it is not detailed further elsewhere in the newsletter, let one of us know and we’ll get you the information.
